Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 28 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy and windy, with spells of heavy rain.

Today:
A cloudy and wet start across the region with gusty winds and coastal gales. Rain occasionally heavy and persistent, especially over high ground. Into the afternoon drier spells may develop in the south before further outbreaks of rain later. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Spells of rain continue into the evening before gradually easing in the south. Remaining cloudy and windy with coastal gales. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Monday:
Cloudy with outbreaks of rain at times in the north, especially over hills. Drier in the south with a chance of a few brighter spells into the afternoon. Windy. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Warm with light winds and sunny spells on Tuesday. Cloudier with patchy rain at times on Wednesday. Colder and largely dry with sunny spells on Thursday with an overnight frost.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.